SHERIFF DEATHERAGE DESTROYS BIG STILL

Finds It Ready To Run While Searching Big Hill Section For Wm. Pigg

Sheriff Elmer Deatherage and his efficient deputies are proving every day that they are going to make a record in a race that will be hard to beat.

William Pigg, of the Big Hill section, has had a couple of charges pending against him for several months but he had never been arrested on them. One is shooting on the public highway, and another carrying concealed a deadly weapon. Three days in a row Sheriff Deatherage and his son, Franklin, and Deputies Dick Moberly and Den Davis scoured the country around Pigg's home, hunting for him. The charges against Pigg are not serious ones, in the real sense, but the fact that Pigg had managed to elude him so often made the Sheriff determined to find him if possible. Pigg's living around Pigg seemed to take a delight in throwing the officers off the scent, too. Once they were within a hundred yards of a place where Pigg was hiding, but their car got stuck in a mud-hole, and by the time they got it out the quarry had flown. Several times they went on "wild goose" chases up hollows, only to find that Pigg had gone in the opposite direction.

Hunting for Pigg one morning early before breakfast, they approached a house. When some distance away they saw a man leave hurriedly, so Franklin Deatherage "took out" after him. The man seemed somewhat crippled and was using a crutch or cane. He made speed over a hill however, and the young officer after him. When passing a clump of bushes, another fellow popped out and began to run in the opposite direction. Young Mr. Deatherage knew that the first man wasn't the party he was hunting, and thought the latter might be, so he switched the chase and went after him. This fellow made speed toward a barn, and about that time the other officers got into the game. Deputies Moberly and Davis circled around the barn and finding him as he came. The officers knew of no charge against him, so released him. The sheriff sought to learn why he had run, and he said the "big pistol" had scared him. Mr. Deatherage said none of his officers had his pistol out. And after talking with the man for a while he was released and went his way.

Some explanation of the hurry of the two men seemed to come to light a short time later though. The trail of the crippled man was taken up, thinking it might lead to some clue to Pigg's whereabouts. It wound in and out the hollows until suddenly it disappeared. Hunting around, the officers soon found a perfect moonshine still of large capacity. The wood was there, the mason prepared and everything ready for a run. Of course, the officers destroyed it, and poured out about 250 gallons of mash. The worm had not been brought to the still, but the officers believe the owner of it would soon have been on the scene and ready for business. They are of the opinion that there is a sort of "community worm" up in that section. Different moonshiners prepare their mash, etc., and get ready to make a run and then the owner of the copper worm comes around and does the necessary distillation for him. Then he takes it elsewhere. Officers say that whenever you find the worm you usually find the man with it.

A day or so later, a tip came that Pigg was hiding at the home of a friend below Berea at a place where he would hardly be looked for by the officers. Sheriff Deatherage sent Deputy Ben Davis out there and sure enough Pigg was sitting in front of a fire warming his feet. A woman in the house shouted to him to run, when she saw Davis coming in but Pigg saw it was too late and with a laugh surrendered to Davis, who brought him to jail here.

POOL LOAN NOW

OVER $5,000,000

Lexington, Jan. 25—The loan to the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative association today totaled $5,229,000. "It shows," said President James C. Stone, "that the bankers of the burley district have confidence in the association and its plan of business."

The Lexington Herald said on Wednesday morning: "Nearly a million dollars additional money was pledged to the 'first liberty loan' of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association by banks in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana. Tuesday, despite the fact that the loan already exceeded minimum requirements nearly $500,000."

When the day's business closed at the offices of the association, President James C. Stone had offers of additional sums totalling $967,200, raising the amount placed at the disposal of the association to use as advances to the growers on delivery of their crops to $5,136,200.

The Fayette National Bank of Lexington, offered its legal limit, $400,000. The Guaranty Bank & Trust Company, tendered a loan of $400,000.

The Citizens Union National Bank of Louisville, whose president, Jeff D. Stewart, had been absent from Louisville for some time telephoned President James C. Stone that the institution, with which John R. Downing, a former Lexingtonian is connected, would give its legal limit in aid of the tobacco growers, that amount being $250,000.

The First National Bank of Cincinnati, of which W. S. Rowe, well known in the blue grass, is president, and Thomas J. Davis, a former Kentuckian, is cashier, offered the association $300,000.

It was a day of jubilation at burley headquarters. The flood of telegrams, which started the previous day when $176,500 was added to the loan, continued throughout Tuesday, adding $794,000 more to the loan.

JIM PARK HAS 4TH CLASS CITY BILL

Offer Measure Giving Councils More Power—Contest May Be Decided Soon.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25—The fate of the proposed $10,000,000 bond issue for a soldier bonus in Kentucky may be decided by the House Committee on Appropriations, which meets at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, prior to the session of the General Assembly. This committee met in connection with the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the House chamber, to hear the bill explained by its author, Daniel O'Donovan, of Kenton county; by former Representative John T. Murphy, of Covington, who has been chiefly instrumental in drawing up the legislation; and by R. E. L. Murphy, Lexington, prominent in the Veterans' Welfare Association, and the ranks of the Veterans of the Foreign Wars, who are urging its passage.

J. T. Murphy, in his presentation of the case for the issue, said that when the bonus bill was defeated in the House by a small margin of three votes two years ago, only two or three states had acted on the matter, but that now no less than sixteen states have adopted some such measure, with varying amounts and that the issue is pending in nine others.

According to the terms of the bill, as explained by Mr. O'Donovan, no veteran shall receive more than $250 and the money is to be paid on a basis of $10 for each month of service or major fraction thereof.

R. E. L. Murphy, Lexington, said that 99 per cent of the veterans of Kentucky favor a bonus. He claimed that 800,000 veterans of the World War are now out of work in the United States. Sixteen states have voted adjusted compensation, and fifteen states have given civil service preference to veterans," he added. "In Lexington, one deputy commissioner is a former serviceman."

Senator S. L. Marshall's bill, providing for an additional commissioner for the Court of Appeals, was passed by the Senate, 32 to 1. It is said that the defeat of the bill is now far behind what it should be, due to the numerous cases pending before that body, despite the fact that for a number of years it has had one commissioner, who handles cases given him by the court. The Marshall bill practically raises the number of judges from eight to nine, as the two commissioners are of all intents and purposes members of the court, though they do not sit with it in final judgment.

Senator Ben T. Darr is returned from Hickman Tuesday, and the entire membership of the Contest Committee trying the Graham-Wallace case, is now in Frankfort. A report from that committee is expected to be filed in the Senate Wednesday. A number of neutral observers were predicting that Senator Wallace would be allowed to retain his seat, by verdict of the committee, though partisans of Mr. Oldham were still hopeful that he would win the decision.

Among the bills introduced in the House Tuesday was H. B. 232, by James Park, Madison, giving additional power to committees of four class cities.

EX-SOLDIER FIGHTS AGAINST A BONUS

Harry Miller, of Lexington, Declares He and Many Others Want People's Thanks

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25—The House Appropriations Committee today reported the $10,000,000 soldier bonus bill without expression of opinion. A struggle was precipitated on the floor when Representative Nelson, of Hardin county, moved the bill be denied a place on the calendar.

Harry Frazier, of Lawrenceburg, pleaded that the people be allowed to vote on the bill. Harry Miller, of Lexington, asserted that all he and many of his comrades wanted was the grateful thanks of the nation. He pleaded with the members not to allow it to be said the veterans of the world war had replaced their patriotism with money.

After other speakers were heard, Representative Nelson withdrew his motion to kill the bill and it was returned to the committee. In the House today E. E. Nelson's bill repealing the anti-pass law was favorably reported. The criminal law committee favorably reported the bill raising the age of consent to 18 years and making it apply to both sexes.

The committee on mines and geology favorably reported a bill fixing Paintsville, Pineville, Lexington and Madisonville as places for holding examinations of gas, foremen and inspectors.

BYEETOWN DESERVES DUE RECOGNITION

Dear Editor—
I would like to call attention to a little mistake by Richmond folks which has needed to be put right and I have often wondered why some of our old forefathers haven't seen to it. Now Richmond is one of the best market towns I ever sold my garden products in; rather than turn a truck, farmer down they will say "I've just bought, but you are from Waco, aren't you?" and we old tired peddlers say, "Yes." Still we know they are mistaken and then they say, "Well, we will take a bushel or a melon," etc. for they are the best in the world. Now here is where these good hearted people are mistaken. I don't mean in the quality of the garden products, but where they came from. Now you get in your car about the first of June and drive out to Waco. Then you will begin to wonder, "Wen, this is Waco but where am I to get my berries?" They always say "Waco berries."

Now to prove to you it is not Waco berries and melons you keep straight through Waco and come to Byeetown and your heart will leap with joy that there is such a place in the world. So you see there has been a mistake made. Who made it? I don't know. I do know it will correct itself when you Richmond folks come and see for yourselves. Waco is a nice little blue grass town and the people there are fine people and not lovers of money for they often stop out wagons and say "I want some of your nice cantaloupes or a crate of your berries," and we often get rid of a great deal of our heavy load. So we are sure the Waco citizens will agree with us for they often drive their cars out to Byeetown and see these things with their own eyes.

Another Indictment For Former County Judge

Whitesburg, Ky., Jan. 25—Fess Whitaker, former county judge of Letcher county, has been served with two indictments charging drunkenness in office. It is expected that these cases will be passed until the next term of circuit court, as Whitaker has already stood trial on two charges at this session.

HEED THE DANGER SIGNALS

If we are not "fit as a fiddle" in the morning; if we don't feel better than when we went to bed; if our breath is offensive and we have that bad taste in the mouth, Nature has set the danger signals for us and we cannot afford to neglect the warning that she gives.

Probably eighty per cent of all diseases originate in the digestive organs, so it is evident that if we had stomach trouble, however slight, we are foolish indeed if we do not take prompt steps to correct it.

Stomach trouble is almost always followed by a complication of diseases. One of the first being an overworked liver, with all the symptoms of biliousness, followed in turn by backaches, coated tongue, dizzy spells, pain in the back, palpitation of the heart and other distressing symptoms.

Sooner or later the kidneys will become involved and that is just why these danger signals should be heeded in time. A wise man puts out the fire before there is too much destruction. The same theory should apply to stomach trouble.

The American people have learned that Tanlac probably provides the surest, safest and quickest remedy for all such troubles, and millions upon millions have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results.

That is the reason for the phenomenal success of Tanlac and that is why it is proclaimed the world's Greatest Tonic. Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son, and leading druggists.

Foreign Advertising Representative: THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Retailers all over the state are working for the passage of a bill by the legislature prohibiting the use of what are known as "trading stamps." The retailers' bulletin says that it is the most costly, unsatisfactory and least useful form of advertising. From the character of men who are working for such a law, it must be worth while. At least, those who have made a life-long study of the best merchandising methods, testify that the only real, 100 per cent advertising is in the newspapers.

In Estill, Too

Over in Estill county the officers are going after the festive "shiners," too. The Irvine Times had this in the last issue:

It seems that Chief of Police Gurley intends to keep the good work he has started. This was manifested Tuesday night when he with Russ Sizemore and Green Covey raided a moonshine still on the Richmond pike about five miles out of Irvine at the home of Wiley Richardson. A 50-gallon still was destroyed, also eight 60-gallon fermenters, comprising a complete outfit.

This makes a total of ten stills destroyed by Irvine police since December 1, 1921. Through their untiring efforts the grand jury has returned indictments in 14 bootlegging cases, and 8 transportation cases.

Citizens of Irvine have subscribed to the amount of $400 for the enforcement of the prohibition laws. This will be used as the chief of police sees fit on appeal of the mayor. The large amount subscribed was $39 each by Wm. Williams and Judge C. C. Sprad, Shiloh Noble held the funds.

The grand jury has been busy returning indictments for violation of the prohibition law—bootlegging, being drunk and transporting whisky. In most cases stiff fines and jail sentences have been meted out to those charged with being drunk. Frank Nab, Geo. Roach, Price Young, James D. McKinney, Wiley Richardson, Robt. Sparks, and Clarence Powell have been indicted for moonshining by the present grand jury and their trials set for the 13th day of court. Five others have been indicted but not arrested yet, for the same offense. There are also five charges for transporting whisky. These men being brought to justice was largely the work of the Irvine police.

"Deducks" Hit Farmer Hard

A farmer has started something which is going the rounds of the story tellers and deserves to go further. After he had sold his corn, he went to his local banker to borrow some money and the banker wanted to know what had become of the proceeds of the corn crop.

"Deducks got it," replied the farmer.

"What do you mean by 'deducks'?" asked the banker. "Well," explained the farmer, "I shipped the car to market and sold it for 32 cents. Then deduct freight; that left 31 cents; deduct 1 cent commission; that left 30 cents; deduct elevator charges; that left 27 cents; deduct husking; that left 15 cents; deduct hauling; that left 5 cents; deduct the hired man's wages from that and you are a darned sight better farmer than I am if you can find anything left."

CATAPULT TO LAUNCH PLANE FROM WARSHIP

Navy Has Designed One on Turntable Which Can Be Operated on Any Ship.

INGENUOUSLY SIMPLE DEVICE

Airplane May Be Launched Into Wind Without Regard to Direction. Battleship Is Headed—Compressed Air Is Used.

Washington.—The navy has been launching airplanes from the decks of battleships for several years, but it has hitherto been necessary always to maneuver the battleship so as to launch the airplane directly into the wind. This, manifestly, would be impossible in actual battle. So the United States Navy department has just developed a system whereby an airplane may be catapulted into the wind without regard to the direction the battleship is headed.

The Scientific American gives a complete description of this ingeniously simple device, which is now being shown in the Philadelphia navy yard. Following is the article, slightly condensed:

"To permit the launching of airplanes from a battleship or other war vessel the catapult has been resorted to, and a special type of catapult has been developed which has been designated a turntable catapult because the catapult mechanism proper is mounted on a turntable so that it can be pointed into the wind when launching a plane.

"One catapult of this type could be installed on every battleship and could launch when needed a fighting airplane, so that a fleet of battleships would be able on the approach of hostile bombing airplanes to send into the air instantly a large number of fighting planes to shoot them down before the bombing attack could be developed. This is the real answer to the threat of the bombing plane, which was demonstrated in so spectacular a manner by the recent bombing from the air of the German warships.

"In the bombing attacks of those German warships it was shown that bombs dropped from the air could do material damage to warships which did not defend themselves. Obviously a warship can defend itself by anti-aircraft gunfire, but never by attack in the air. The weapons of offense and defense in the history of naval warfare have always developed step by step and the development of the heavy bombing airplane is being met by this development of a catapult which will shoot fast combat planes from the decks of battleships into the air to repel bombing attacks.

Developed in Ten Years.

"The catapult of this particular type is new, but the elements are the result of navy catapult development initiated in 1911 by Capt. Washington I. Chambers, at that time in charge of naval aviation experiments. The first flight was made Nov. 12, 1912, by Commander, then Lieutenant, T. G. Elyson in a Curtiss seaplane from a catapult.

"The matter was resumed in 1915 when the development of naval seaplanes had proceeded to such a point that it was clear to the Navy it would be desirable to take aircraft to sea. A new design of catapult, based on experience with the first one, was installed on the stern of the armored cruiser North Carolina and successful flights were made. The North Carolina installation proved so reliable that similar catapults were installed on the armored cruisers Seattle and Huntington, and during the early winter of 1916 successful flights were made from these cruisers.

"At the time the United States entered the war the principal naval effort was anti-submarine in its object and the convey of shipping. Aircraft were not needed aboard these cruisers for this purpose, and the catapults were removed. After the armistice, the catapult problem was again taken up and a catapult, similar to the North Carolina design, which had been in use at Pensacola for training aviators while mounted on a coal barge, was brought to Washington and further tests and investigations made.

"The old catapults, such as were used on the North Carolina, consisted of a track along which a carriage was propelled by a compressed air cylinder. The airplane was mounted on this carriage, and as the carriage sped up it released the airplane at the end of its run, allowing it to fly into the air. The track for this catapult was mounted along the centerline of the ship, and since it was necessary to launch the airplane direct into the relative wind, it was necessary for the ship to set herself on such a course that the wind blew in the direction of the catapult track.

"This maneuver, while entirely feasible, necessitated the ship turning out of formation, or heading upon some course which might prove very disadvantageous. The turntable catapult obviates this, and is relatively small and compact.

THE TIME TO TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN

When You Feel a "Little Off" It Will Bring You Back To Health

Some people never need any medicine at all. They are, as the saying goes, "strong as a bull."
They are mighty lucky. Most people need a good tonic once in a while. They take cold, or through overwork or social activity do not get enough sleep;
many eat improper food and thus hinder the digestion. It is mighty wise to take Gude's Pepto-Mangan with the meals for a few weeks and build up. One cannot have too much good health. Pep-to-Mangan gives you plenty of red blood, and everybody knows that red blood means feeling good and looking good all the

FORD RETAIL SALES GO OVER MILLION

1921 Figures Show Increase of 105,000 Cars and Trucks Over
Previous Year—Big Record

Retail sales of Ford cars, trucks and Fordson tractors have again exceeded the million mark for the year 1921, according to a statement given out today by the Ford Motor Company.

The Ford factory and assembly plant production figures reached a total of 1,050,740 cars, trucks and tractors for the year, with retail sales by dealers approximating 1,093,000, which in the United States alone surpassed the 1920 retail sales record by 104,213 Ford cars and trucks.

The Ford Company says the outlook for 1922 is decidedly optimistic. In fact, concrete evidence already exist in that car and truck retail sales for December 1921, exceeded December 1920, sales by almost 25 per cent, and Fordson tractor retail sales for the same periods show an increase of over 100 per cent for December 1921, as well as an increase over the total tractor sales for the month of November.

These facts seem to indicate that not only are the farmers buying more freely, but that the general public is becoming more responsive and receptive.

Another point brought out by a comparison of production figures for the past two years shows that Ford enclosed cars are gaining in popularity, as 23 per cent of the 1921 production were Sedans and Coupes against a total of 18 per cent for the year previous.

Recent reductions in Ford car and truck prices brought them to a new low level. The Touring car now sells for $348, the Runabout for $319, the Coupe for $380, the Sedan for $645, the Chassis for $285, and the Truck for $130, all F.O.B. Detroit.

This is the fourth price cut in the past sixteen months. During that time the price of the touring car alone has been cut from $375 to $348, a reduction of 10 per cent. Reductions on some of the other types have been even greater.

The Ford Company believes that this reduction, while not a large one, is especially important at this time as it should go a long way toward stabilizing market conditions.

Ford is giving employment at present to approximately 40,000 men in his main plant at Detroit, the importance of which is emphasized when consideration is given to the fact that nearly 20 per cent of the city's population is directly dependent upon the Ford Motor Company.

ADULTERATED FEEDS FROM OTHER STATES

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 25 — The bulk of poor feed and most of the adulterated feeds offered for sale in Kentucky are made in other states, according to a new bulletin on commercial feeding stuffs which is being distributed by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station to interested farmers. During 1920, 250,000 tons of commercial feeds of all classes were consumed in the state, according to the bulletin.

Some cheap and poor grade feeds are made by Kentucky manufacturers but most of the feeds made by concerns within the state are of reasonably good quality while a good portion of them are of extremely high quality, according to the publication.

The bulletin contains the official analysis of 1,284 feeds made by the station during 1920. Of this number 318 were wheat by-products, 161 mixed feeds composed of wheat by-products and corn bran, 102 cotton seed meal, 37 cotton seed feed, 64 poultry feed, 36 meat products, 16 oil meal, 291 stock feeds, 117 miscellaneous stock feeds containing a material of little or no feeding value, 14 ry feeds, 49 corn by-products, 40 ground barley, and 19 miscellaneous by-products.

Illegitimate use of screenings of inferior grains, the substitution of wheat bran either entirely or partially for middlings and shorts, sale of so-called "alfalfa meal" and adulteration of feeds with rice hulls and bagasse are named in the bulletin as being the most common dishonest methods practiced by manufacturers of feed in defrauding buyers.

Of the total tons of feeds consumed in the state during the past year, horse and mule feed made up the largest single part, 42,920 tons of these having been used, according to the bulletin. Mixed wheat feeds and screenings were second, 32,330 tons of these having been used. Mixed feeds containing wheat and corn were third in the list, 27,120 tons of these having been consumed.
